SCROFULA

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofula. It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the body, and produces a more permanent, lasting result than any medicine ever used.

Humors, Erysipelas, Canker, and Catarrh.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried all sorts of remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the disease of the medicine I am completely cured.

Can be cured by purifying the blood with

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

—Allow no rotting vegetables to remain in the cellar.

—Alfalfa has been successfully grown in Dakota, on a light, sandy soil and in an exposed position. Under more favorable conditions it may be expected to do better still.

—Rice Omelet.—Dissolve one teaspoon of cold, boiled rice in one teaspoon milk. Add to this one tablespoon butter and a little salt, and stir in three well beaten eggs. Bake as an ordinary omelet. —Chicago Herald.

—It costs about twice as much to buy bread as to make it at home. Another advantage is that the cook is less apt to waste, because she will want to save herself the trouble of making more. —Democrat's Monthly.

—Remember that, fresh butch in water kept tightly corked in a bottle, one teaspoonful to two gallons, is excellent to keep flies from worrying our work horses. We have only to bathe the animals on various parts of the body once in an hour or so.

—Yeast Waffles.—One quart of flour, two teaspoons of salt, a pint and a half of sweet milk, six eggs beaten very light, three tablespoons of hop yeast. Set to rise over night; stir in the morning, before baking, a little flour and pour in a cup of melted butter. —Exchange.

—Currant Jelly Without Cooking.—Press the juice from currants and strain it to every pint put a pound of fine white sugar; mix them together until the sugar is dissolved, then put in jars, seal them and expose them to the sun for two or three days. —The Farmer and Manufacturer.

—Salt Codfish with White Sauce.—Set it to soak as long as necessary, put it into cold water over the fire in a vessel; when just upon boiling, skim it and take it off as soon as it boils; cover it over and leave it thus for a quarter of an hour, then take it out of the vessel and let it drain. Put into a saucepan a pint of butter, a little flour, pepper and capers, celery or parsley, add to it a little milk, pour it over the fish and serve. —Boston Budget.

—Preserves of all kinds should be kept entirely secluded from the air and in a dry place. If put on a shelf in the pantry they should not be allowed to come in contact with the wall. Even the driest walls, apparently, exude more or less moisture and preserves invariably absorb it, both in dampness and in taste. —It is necessary occasionally to look at them, and if they have been attacked by mold boil them over again, but gently. The old way of laying over them a paper dipped in brandy to prevent all risks is still adhered to by many good housewives. —Indianapolis Journal.

THE WORLD OF FASHION.
Cool Gowns and Tasty Bonnets New Worn by Stylish Women.

Silk gloves of a pale tan, with long, loose wrists, are substituted for kid during the hot weather.

Small bonnets of sheer white organdie, made with many fine platings, are worn to church in the country, trimmed with big bows of pure white ribbon.

Ecru embroidered muslins are worn with ruffled skirts, apron drapery and shirred waists, which are held in place by a broad, heavy white belt. The shoulders are ornamented with epaulettes of thick, soft white ribbon bows.

The latest black lace dresses are made by sewing alternate strips of lace, inserting two inches wide and black moire ribbon of the same width. The fabric formed in this way is draped diagonally across the moire underdress in front and straight in the back. The waist is shirred across the shoulders and about the neck over a tight silk lining and gathered to a point at the belt line.

Similar lace dresses are made in white and draped over either white moire or white surah. In these white costumes the front drapery of the waist is crossed over in surplice fashion and held at the waist with a white moire sash. The sleeves of the striped lace and ribbon are in long-plaited shaps and have no lining, short moire cuffs confining them below the elbow.

Dressing sequences of exquisitely delicate pull, trimmed profusely with lace and covered with a multitude of loops of the very narrowest ribbon, are worn to the breakfast table with old silk skirts that are past the prime. The ribbons are run through narrow inserting set between the mull and the lace ruffles. Under the mull are worn white corset covers, tied with ribbons of the same color as those in the sequence, which are prettiest when of clear, buttercup yellow.

The most sensible and coolest morning gown for those obliged to remain in the city during the warm weather is a full plain skirt of pongee with a deep hem. The waist has a basque back and gathered, surplice fronts, leaving the throat unhampered by a collar. The sleeves are faced at the wrist and turned back in Pilgrim fashion with a contrasting color. The fronts are tied in loosely with long ribbon bows. Dull green, pale heliotrope or dark wine tints are pretty in contrast.

A pretty evening gown is of white silk mull. It is made over a skirt of cheap white silk and has three narrow flounces of the mull edged with two rows of narrow white satin ribbon.

The long drapery is edged with four rows of ribbon and is nowhere draped high enough above the flounces to expose the silk underskirt. The waist is a low-necked, sleeveless, white silk basque, over which the mull is gathered high in the throat, held there by three rows of ribbon. There are no sleeves, and the gloves are white. —N. Y. World.

BRACE UP.
You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with Headache, you are fatigued, nervous, and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up. —There are no stimulants, spring medicines or tonics, which have for their basis very cheap, bad whiskey, and which you take for an hour, and then leave you in worse condition than before.

What you want is an alternative that will purify your blood, start healthy action of Liver and Kidneys, increase your appetite and give you a healthy and stimulating action. Such a medicine you will find in Dr. John A. Swears' Great Kidney and Liver Pills, and only 50 cents a box.

D. A. MARR

THE wife and two children of Supervisor John S. Jones had a narrow escape from death in a runaway accident in Long Creek township on Monday. The spring wagon struck a stone and threw the occupants out of the rig, the team running away and badly damaging the wagon. The children were not seriously hurt, but Mrs. Jones' back was sprained badly. She came to the city yesterday to visit a surgeon.

The Conference at Argenta.

The ministers and lay delegates who constitute the Central Illinois Annual Conference of the U. B. Church have filled the village of Argenta and surrounding country with happy and well-to-do appearing messengers of the Master. Every home seems to be at their disposal, while the tables are spread with all the delicacies that their rich land produces and willing hands could prepare. No pains are spared to add to the comfort and convenience of the members and visitors of the conference. Bishop Weaver, of Dayton, Ohio, who is to preside at this conference, is expected on the morning train from the east. The conference will organize this 9 a. m. by the election of a secretary and chairman. Rev. Hatfield preached before the conference last night to a crowded house. Services will be held in both churches to night, so as to accommodate the great crowds that attend the meeting.

ARGENTA, Sept. 15.

Among the principal scenes that will be presented by the Cora Van Tassel new "Hidden Hand" company Saturday night, are a view of the "Hudson River by Moonlight," view of the "Brooklyn Bridge," wonderful mechanical effects, showing cars passing to and fro, boats plying the river, Brooklyn illuminated, "Black Donald" dream in prison, depicting thrilling events in his eventful career, "The Robber's Home," in the caverns of Luray, a novel scenic splendor, a "Flood in the James River," the mechanical and novel wonder of the day; "The Haunted House" in the woods with a rain-fall of real water; "Great Plantation Scene" at Harriette Hall in Virginia, introducing a coterie of minstrel artists in banjo solos, dances, walk-around, etc.

Celebration.

The fifth anniversary of the organization of the O. O. F., will be celebrated at Oakland Park, on Thursday, Sept. 22, on which occasion there will be speaking by state officers and others. Springfield, Bloomington and Champaign colored Odd Fellows will be here to participate in the celebration. All are invited to attend. 9-44wd

This Wash is selling tickets at $6.00 from Deatur to Kansas City, Admision and St. Joe by way of Omaha, Hot Springs and St. Louis, and return.

"Comfort" Ranges.

After the board of supervisors proceeded to consider routine business. The leasing of the fair grounds was left to the special committee. The report of the committee that the Y. M. C. A. and St. Mary's Hospital property is subject to taxation was adopted. The iron fence about the county jail property is to be sold. The coal contract for the year was let to the Deatur Coal company. Prices, $1.50 per ton for coal delivered on Green's switch; $1.85 at county jail and court house; $2.00 to paupers on orders. Steward Magee reported 42 inmates of the poor farm.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

At the afternoon session Supervisor Brown's motion that a committee be appointed to advertise for plans and specifications for the new court house was adopted without opposition. Supervisors Brown, Hill, Imboden, Moffatt and Camp were named on the committee. On motion Supervisor Woodcock was added to the committee as chairman.

Plans will be received in time for consideration by the board at the December meeting.

At the session this forenoon general business received attention.

The committee reported favorably on the resolution for a deputy county superintendent of schools. Miss Mathe Evans was appointed at a salary of $1,500 a year for six months, time not to exceed 70 days each year.

The Hitt swamp land resolution was referred to the judiciary committee.

The claim of Supt. Evans for $322 was allowed. The annual report of the superintendent was approved.

The communication of Commissioners Hill, Caldwell and Allen, recommending that the old county bridge be raised and repaired was referred. The cost is estimated at $110.00.

RESOLUTIONS.

Supervisor Smith offered the following, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, The poor of Mason county is a large and not a township charge, and it is the duty of the county board to pay bills only when made in a proper and legal way; therefore

Resolved, That no more bills be paid to overseers of the poor for such services unless the same accrue and are presented in accordance with the law.

An overseer of the poor for Deatur township will be appointed by the board this afternoon or to-morrow. No doubt there will be several applications for the position.

THE CAMP MEETING.

A Large Audience and a Good Sermon.

The faith cure camp meeting at Oakland Park called on a large crowd last night, the huge tent being completely filled. After a song service lasting for fifteen minutes Mr. Woodworth made an announcement that hereafter admission fee of 10 cents would be charged at each evening service and on Sunday, but that the day services during the week would be free. Then there was more singing, a prayer by one of the female helpers, after which came the service by Mrs. Woodworth, the text being "Ye think ye have eternal life." The discourse was an interesting exposition of the speaker's idea of what is meant by the phrase, "eternal life."

The manner of the evangelist is earnest, and well calculated to stir up the enthusiasm of an audience. After the discourse an invitation was given to those who desired to come forward and seek eternal life. The altar then became a scene of noisy demonstration, singing, praying, exhortation, and some shouting. A part of the service was quite impressive, notably that when the evangelist called for a few moments of silent prayer. There were no "cures" effected during the services, which did not continue very late, though several who were afflicted professed to be somewhat relieved. There will be services again this evening.

This afternoon there is an immense crowd at the meeting, the people coming from every direction.

Mrs. Frick, the lady from Carbondale, mention of whose presence in the city was made in these columns last evening, was at the meeting yesterday afternoon.

She went to the altar to seek relief from rheumatism, and was apparently very much benefited. She secured free use of her arms and limbs, but is not fully restored. It is her intention to strive for the faith that will put her in the full enjoyment of health.

Reception.

Let all take heed, and full not to remember that on Thursday next, the 15th of September, The Methodist church, called for short the First M. E.

Will hold in the lecture room one grand lecture in honor of one who has served us so well. Let us greet him again as we bid him farewell for the itinerant wheel will soon take from our view.

The pastor so worthy, so faithful, so true. Then all who would help by a word of good cheer.

To lighten his toil in the on-coming year. Before his departure to fields that are new. Give him Godspeed and a hearty adieu. There'll be made and eysies, ice cream and cake.

With candies and flowers for the dear children's sake. And other attractions which cannot be told. If you come and find out, we'll not think you bold. Let everyone come. There'll be room for you all. If you cannot come early, make a late call. Come with your greenbacks, your silver and gold. To give in exchange for things to be sold. Please do not forget the place or the time. For that is the object of this homely rhyme. To remind you of the day Thursday next is the date. At seven p. m., or a quarter to eight. Sept 14

THE nuptials of Mr. Harry C. Clark, proprietor of the Wash Exchange at Springfield, and Miss Ada M. Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Howard, were celebrated at the First M. E. church last evening shortly after 8 o'clock, in the presence of a company of Deatur, Springfield, Jacksonville, Champaign, Mattoon and Clinton friends that completely filled the audience room, many being unable to enter. The officiating clergyman was Rev. E. P. Moore, of Champaign, whose watch differed just ten minutes with the church clock, and therefore caused a little delay that was more or less embarrassing to the waiting bridal party. The marriage was quite an elaborate affair, one that the colored people will long remember as the grand wedding ever witnessed among their people. It equaled in style and richness the most pretentious marriage celebrations by wealthy white people. There were six bridesmaids, the bridal party entering the church while Katie Dunnigan, of Springfield, played the wedding march. At the altar, which was decorated with blooming flowers, Rev. Moore received the couple and spoke the impressive ceremony of the church uniting Mr. Clark and Miss Howard in wedlock, pronouncing a brief benediction at the close. The bridal party passed out of the church to the residence of the bride's parents, No. 630 Spring Avenue, where a reception was held, and where a sumptuous banquet served upon tables on the illuminated lawn was spread. It was prepared by Mr. Will Holland, of the Hotel Brunswick, a brother-in-law of the bride. Among the 300 invited guests were scores of white friends who were at the wedding feast. They praise it as perfect in every respect.

THE TOILETS.

The bride was richly attired in an elaborate costume of Peacock blue plush, with diamond brooch and natural flowers for ornaments. She wore the traditional bridal veil and a wreath of orange blossoms.

Miss Mary Howard, sister of the bride, was the first bridesmaid. She wore a closely fitting dress of pink satin, decorated with pearls and natural flowers. Her escort was Jordan Murray, of Springfield.

Miss Sadie Parks, of Springfield, was attired in like blue satin, with trimmings of lace, pearls and natural flowers. Escort, Wm. Parker, of Springfield.

Miss Annie Head, of Springfield, wore a beautiful dress of halcyon orange and saffron silk, with trimmings of steel beads and flowers. Charles Kent, of Springfield, was her attendant.

Miss Birdie Miller, of Deatur, who was escorted by Ollie Singleton, of Springfield, wore a pretty costume of Nile green and salmon surah, with orange blossoms for decorations.

Miss Nellie Nash, of Champaign, escorted by Samuel Merrill, wore a cream satin albatross dress, decorated tastefully with flowers.

Miss Alice Anderson, of Mattoon, wore a cream albatross dress, trimmed with Spanish lace and flowers, and was attended by A. L. Bohon, of Springfield.

The bridegroom and groomsmen appeared in full evening dress, wearing white gloves and boutonnieres.

The Howard residence was open all evening to the guests who passed through to offer their congratulations to the happy couple, the bride receiving a large collection of useful and beautiful gifts from her many friends.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Clark, accompanied by their visiting friends, departed in a special car for their future home at Springfield.

THE new "Hidden Hand" company with Cora Van Tassel as Capitoila will appear at the opera house Saturday night. A large amount of special scenery will be shown.

THE Clinton papers tell how Sam Anderson, of Saybrook, stole the watch and daughter of a Mr. Perry and went to the Farmer City fair, passing the girl off for his wife. He was arrested for the theft of the watch.

A "STATE ITEM" floating about in the newspapers is to this effect: "The oldest lawsuit in Illinois has been on the docket for forty-two years. It began about a $2 hog and has cost the principles about $7,000."
